A world around every release.

Kev'Laa is Kevin Allmark, an independent electronic producer, DJ, songwriter and visual creator from North West England.

He wanted to be a DJ and producer when he was younger, but the bills needed paying, so he got a normal job. The dream didn't disappear; it had to wait.

Kevin Allmark

The artist behind Kev'Laa.

A career in strategy, behavioural science and technology followed. Now, with more room in his life for creativity and new tools opening doors, he's finally making the music he always wanted to—and mixing DJ sets with his own records.

A lifelong clubber shaped by Liverpool's Cream era, Kev'Laa follows ideas rather than sticking to one genre. Some tracks are dark, some emotional, and some exist because the idea was too ridiculous not to make. The stories often spill into artwork, characters and films, with his humour and imagination running through the lot.

Electronic music. Stories you can dance to.
